Tessa Auberjonois stars in Antaeus Theatre Company's "Eight Nights," a story developed in the Antaeus Playwrights Lab honoring the global refugee experience running through Monday, Dec. 16, at the Kiki & David Gindler Performing Arts Center. Set during the eight nights of Hanukkah and spanning eight decades of the protagonist's life, Jennifer Maisel's play gracefully weaves together heart-aching moments with dark yet life-affirming humor. It highlights trauma experienced by concentration camp survivors, descendants of slavery, interned Japanese Americans and current victims of wars in Africa and the Middle East. The cast also includes Arye Gross, Devin Kawaoka, Christopher Watson, Karen Malina White, Zoe Yale and Josh Zuckerman. Showtimes are 8 p.m., Monday, Friday and Saturday; 2 p.m., Sunday. Tickets are $35. 110 E. Broadway, Glendale. (818)506-1983, antaeus.org.

Radicals," a two-day program of artist talks, performances, screenings and panel conversations on Saturday, Nov. 9, and Sunday, Nov. 10, at the ArtCenter College of Design in Pasadena. Robotics, space science, botany and augmented and virtual reality will all be addressed and positioned within a greater conversation about the arts and sciences. The event begins at 10 a.m. on both days. Admission is free; RSVP required by visiting
