

BEST BETS April 24th - April 30th

Evelina Fernández in "Whittier Boulevard" (Photo courtesy Latino Theater Company)

WHITTIER BOULEVARD – Latino Theater Company
– Los Angeles, CA – Now – May 28th

Regardless of your opinion of Los Angeles, it is a city that holds popular sway over countries around the world. But what will Los Angeles be like in another 19 years? That's the question being asked by the cast and director of this satirical play which takes its name from one of Los Angeles' most iconic streets.

In a plot that vaguely reminds me of the film Logan's Run, people of a certain age disappear. But when one 75-year-old faded starlet finds three sympathetic people to raise their voices on behalf of senior citizens, will she end up disappearing, too?

The cast/creators are Evelina Fernández, Sal López, Geoffrey Rivas, Lucy Rodriguez and Jose Luis Valenzuela.

For tickets and more information, please go here.